International Conference on Information Systems 1980

December 8 – 10, 1980 : Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Editors:	Ephraim R. McLean
Conference Chairs:	Gary W. Dickson

Unclassified

A Critique Of Cognitive Styles Theory And Research
Izak Benbasat, University of British Columbia
Ronald Taylor, University of British Columbia

A Systematic Evaluation Of Publications For Production Of MIS Academics
Gordon Davis, University of Minnesota

An Examination Of The Interaction Between Technology, Methodology And Information Systems: A Tripartite View
Richard Welke, Hamilton, Ontario
Benn Konsynski, Tucson, Arizona

Analyzing Executive Decision Making Processes: The Metrological Contribution Of Visual Mental Imagery Protocols
Roger Weissinger, Baylon Naval Postgraduate School
Wayne Hughes, Naval Postgraduate School
Scott Adams, Naval Postgraduate School
Anne Weissinger, Baylon Naval Postgraduate School

Communication Of MIS Research: An Analysis Of Journal Stratification
Scott Hamilton, University of Minnesota
Blake Ives, State University of New York at Binghamton

Contributions Of The Management Sciences To The Evolution Of Management Information Systems
Kenneth Kendall, University of Nebraska-Lincoln
Charles Kriebel, Carnegie-Mellon University

Document Processing In The Automated Office: Implications For Missed Research And Education
Mary Culnan, University of Virginia

Economics And Environment Information Systems
Charles Kriebel, Carnegie-Mellon University
Jeffrey Moore, Stanford University

Forming The Social Contract For The Information Society
Richard Mason, University of Southern California

Improving The Quality Of Information Systems Research
Jon Turner, New York University

Information Systems Support For Assessment Of Management Performance: An Experimental Evaluation
James Senn, State University of New York, Binghamton
Jerri Frantzve, State University of New York, Binghamton

Issues In Publishing For MIS Academicians
Ralph Sprague, University of Hawaii

Low Social Need Strength (SNS) Of Computer Professionals And The Impact On Curriculum Design
J. Daniel Couger, University of Colorado, Colorado Springs

Measurement As An MIS Foundation
Richard Mason, University of Southern California
E. Burton Swanson, University of Caifornia, Los Angeles

Measuring User Involvement In Information System Development
Margrethe Olson, New York University
Blake Ives, State University o f New York, Binghamton

MIS And The Behavioral Sciences: Research Patterns And Prescriptions
Martin Bariff, Case Western Reserve University
Michael Ginzberg, New York University

MIS Research: Reference Disciplines And A Cumulative Tradition

Peter Keen, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Model Management Systems: An Approach To Decision Support In Complex Organizations
Joyce Elam, University of Pennsylvania
John Henderson, University of Pennsylvania
Louis Miller, University of Pennsylvania

Publications And The Use Of The Science Citation Index
Jay Nunamaker, Jr., University of Arizona

Teaching The Current Or Future General Managers: A Critical Function For The MIS Faculty
Jeffrey Hoffer, Indiana University
Alan Merten, The University of Michigan
John Rockart, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

The Knowledge And Skill Requirements For The Doctorate In MIS
Gordon Davis, The University of Minnesota

The Management Information Systems Area: Problems, Challenges And Opportunities
Gary Dickson, University of Minnesota

The MIS Laboratory Concept: The Integration Of MIS And Management Education
Benn Konsynski, University of Arizona
Jay Nunamaker, Jr., University of Arizona

The Role Of Information Systems Research Centers
Gary Dickson, University of Minnesota
John Rockart, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

The Systems Development Process: A Data-Theoretic Approach
Edward Stohr, New York University